CPOA is excited to offer an Advanced Field Training course to enhance the training skills of training officers beyond mandatory P.O.S.T. training (40-hour certification and 3-day update). This course moves past the basics and identifies how adults learn best, how training officers can deliver impactful and illustrative training that is retained, and provides diverse case-study driven exercises to transform information into tangible application. The importance of an agency's efforts through development of a new officer/deputy is second to none and this investment impacts officer safety, retention, productivity, risk management, longevity, morale, and succession planning. Better trainers build better officers which has created the need for this advanced course, taught by experts, to help California's training officers be as effective as possible.
