Transformational Leadership provides an approach that causes change in individuals and social systems. This course will synthesize the instructor's training, education and experience to convey information in a manner that will resonate with others. Participants are required to participate in open dialogue and discussion related to effective and ineffective leadership practices that can build or destroy one's credibility. The course contains contemporary leadership methods designed to bring clarity associated to the characteristics of a Transformational Leader. When Transformational Leadership traits are practiced, leaders become change agents. In other words, they maximize their potential and the potential of others.

At the conclusion of this course, students will be able to:

- Describe the four components of Transformational Leadership
- Identify areas from 'within' in order to maximize potential
- Define what effective leadership means to one
- Develop new ways to practice, practice, practice effective leadership traits
- Participants will understand how to affect change
- Students will be better equipped to transform themselves and followers into leaders
