

Homeless Liaison Officer

Course Overview

The Anaheim Police Department is offering a Homeless Liaison Officer (HLO) course which is specifically designed to educate police agencies on creating their own Homeless Liaison Officer Program.

Police agencies will learn best practices on how to effectively deal with their respective homeless population. Collaborating with various non-profits, faith based-community, city departments and police agencies is crucial to managing the crimes that are typically associated with the homeless population. Police agencies can minimize civil litigation and gain political influence to efficiently deal with the homeless in a humane manner all while holding them accountable. Field operations, tactics, resources, and officer safety considerations will be examined.
